Seventh Sunday after Pentecost

When Jesus cured people like the blind and those with devils not everyone understood what was going on. Some thought “He must be controlling things with the power of the devil.” But they only thought this because they were jealous of Jesus’ goodness. Even though people were jealous, Jesus did not stop doing good.

You can read today’s Gospel with your family. It is found here: Matthew 9:27-35.

Can you help the blind men get to Jesus? And can you help the devil go away from the other man?
