1st Sunday of Lent - the Sunday of Orthodoxy

People once argued whether it was okay to have icons or not. Some people said that since God is not visible He doesn't have an image, and therefore should not be painted. Others pointed out that God became a man in Jesus, and Jesus can be seen, therefore we can and should paint icons. The Church agreed, because God became a man, Icons were good.

We use icons to help us pray and learn.

This Icon is called the Icon Not Made By Hands.
When Jesus pressed the cloth to His face, an image of His face appeared on the cloth.

Can you colour it?
