Sunday of the Prodigal Son

A Man had two sons. The younger son said “Dad, give me half your money, because I can’t wait till your dead.” The Father was sad, but gave half of everything to this younger son. The younger son went away, ate lots of candy and partied till he spent all the money. Then he had to get a job taking care of pigs to be able to feed himself, but even with that job he did not make enough to eat. He thought to himself: “I better go home and apologize, and maybe dad will take care of me.” When He returned the Father ran out to him, hugged him, and told his servants to make a great celebration to mark the return of this son.

The older son who was mad at the younger one, refused to go back home from the fields and welcome his younger brother. The Dad upon noticing the angry older brother went out to him and told him that they need to forgive and rejoice, because they got back the one who was lost.

You can read this Gospel passage in the Gospel of Luke 15:11-32.

Can you help both brothers go back to the Father's home?

The Father has an easy time to get to His sons, because He loves them.

But the sons will have a much harder road to get back to the Father.
